Football Prospects

The football season is now well under way on the Hill, and this is a favorable opportunity to size up the prospects for the team. They are in every respect favorable and the college is assured of a better team than last year's right at the very beginning. But while the team, owing to the experienced material left over from last year, is further along than at this time last fall, still the college must realize that a hard season is in store for the squad, and that most hearty and willing support is necessary in order to make it a success. Every man in college who can, should be on the field in his suit, and those who cannot, should be on hand with all their hot air and cold coin to help in the good work.

Of the team itself, it can be safely said, that what it lacks in weight it will gain in speed. There is not a man on the team, who is not fast enough to last through any game at full speed. If there are no big fat players for the line, still every man is made up of muscle and sand, and that is a pretty good combination.

Crook, Amherst '07, who is coaching the team, has the confidence of every man on the squad. He has a way with him that means business, and is a hustler from start to finish. He has the faculty of picking just the man for every place, and of arranging the material at hand to the best advantage. He is said to be well pleased with the prospects, but there is one thing he has not seen yet. That's Hamilton spirit, and it ought to open his eyes. He should see a lot of it from this time on.

On Saturday a long scrimmage practice was held in which the Varsity lined up as follows: Holley (captain) quarterback; Seidle and Welch halfbacks; L. Leavenworth, fullback; Williams '08, centre; Cody and Glover, guards; McLean '08 and H. P. Osborne, tackles; Harper and White, ends.

The "Row"

Thursday morning, after chapel, the campus was the scene of the usual row between the under classes. Somewhat spurred on by the poor showing they had made paint night, the Freshmen went in with a vim. The row was fast and sharp and was awarded to the Freshmen.

After the row, grass races were run, wrestlers from the two classes tried their skill and two tugs-of-war were pulled off; one between 10 men from each class, the other between the whole classes.

The Freshmen took two out of the three grass races but in the wrestling matches they were outclassed, Sherwin, Leavenworth and Abbott, '10, each taking two falls out of their man.

The tug-of-war between the two teams went to the Sophomores, but the one between the whole classes was won by the Freshmen. The day was awarded to the Sophomores who had won five events to the Freshmen's four. Protection was declared until 1 p. m. Saturday and in consequence, "gym shows" did not flourish until this week.

To Freshmen

There are several things that the Freshman should be careful to note. In the first place he should take particular pains to be present on the football field every afternoon. This is expected of everybody. He should remember that it is his place to speak to every fellow student he happens to meet on the campus or elsewhere and learn the football yells and songs as soon as possible. Above all, he should remember that he is only a Freshman.

Improvements of the Chapel

When President Davis of Hamilton College first conducted services in the new college chapel in 1827, there was no noble organ to support the college choir, no beautiful stained glass windows to keep one from viewing the landscape and no choir loft behind the pulpit. Since that time both the interior and exterior of the chapel have been refurnished and remodeled until the old could scarcely be compared with the new in point of beauty and usefulness.

Again the chapel interior has been remodeled, and for a second time Hamilton's much esteemed friend and benefactor, Dr. Horace B. Silliman, has shown us that he holds Hamilton and her welfare very near to his heart.

Dr. Silliman has won the everlasting good will and respect of Hamilton men by his many contributions to a college which is only sorry that she cannot call him her son. In 1889, Silliman Hall, the first structure dedicated to the college Y. M. C. A. to be erected in New York State was completed. It is one of the finest Y. M. C. A. buildings in the country. In 1897, through another generous gift of Dr. Silliman, the interior of the chapel was refurnished and made into one of the handsomest college chapels in the Eastern States.

Besides his gifts to Hamilton, Dr. Silliman has made benefits to other educational and religious institutions. He erected a very beautiful Presbyterian church in Cohoes; gave the Y. M. C. A. at Union College, his own alma mater, a fine building, presented the Auburn Theological Seminary with a club house, established a school in the Philippine Islands, and has always been a generous contributor to the support of churches and hospitals. Dr. Silliman was elected trustee of Hamilton in 1885. In 1891 he was elected to the chair of President of the college, but declined.

The improvements in the chapel include electric wiring for incandescent lights; the choir loft enlarged, and the seats occupied by the Seniors raised in tiers on platforms each about three inches higher than the tiers in front, and the chapel platform enlarged, and made more serviceable for use in rhetoricals.

There will be forty-two lights along the rafters in the ceiling just above the auditorium proper, twenty-eight on the edge of the ceiling between the windows, and forty on the inside of the supporting beams under the gallery, fitted with ten candle power bulbs. These together with one bulb in the organ loft will give a combined light of 1776 candle power.

"Gym." Shows

Freshman activities along the line of "gym." shows opened auspiciously before a highly appreciative audience of upperclassmen on Wednesday night.

The Freshmen secured their prizes in the vicinity of South College and a march triumphal down the hill was immediately instituted, the procession being adorned by the spoils of conquest, in the persons of two unwary Sophs. The assembly hastened on to the Campus Martius, situated in an apple orchard in the rear of the D. K. E. House. Here the victims were made ready for the bloody business to follow. The caestes were bound on, trousers turned inside out, the helmets adjusted and sleeves rolled up for the fray.

Honors were evenly divided in the boxing and wrestling contests.

At this point the games were disturbed by a herald who came running up a tout vapeur to announce that the Sophomores in countless hordes were pouring through the Arbor and were even then near the Deke House. An assembly of the class was immediately summoned, the two Freshmen consuls were withdrawn, and in view of the impending danger, an upperclassman was appointed dictator. The Freshmen broke up having experienced the pleasure of "gym-showing" a Sophomore and having attained that experience necessary to continue the practice.

Competition

Each year four Freshmen are elected to the LIFE Board in Winter term. This election is based solely on the amount and character of the work handed in. All that is worthy is published, and such only receives credit. Promptness is a prime essential, and helps determine the result. A. F. Osborn, '09, is local editor and to him all copy must be handed not later than Thursday noon. The standing of the competitors is published every other week. Once more let it be emphasized that the elections are on merit only. Good work, regularity and promptness will win an election.

The Y. M. C. A. Reception

About a week earlier in the year than usual, the Y. M. C. A. tendered its reception to the Freshman class on Monday evening. It is a source of much pleasure and satisfaction to have this opportunity for meeting and learning the names of the new men, and surely new men could not fail to profit from what was said at that time.

After refreshments had been served President Bate extended a warm welcome in behalf of the Association. Williams '08 spoke of the college publications and the opportunities they afforded for literary work. Music was furnished by Professor A. P. Saunders who was enthusiastically encored.

Particularly fortunate was the attendance of "Dick" Drummond '02, now city judge of Auburn. Drummond likes to talk to us and we like to listen. There is to be found a no more loyal Hamilton man. His remarks savored of good sound advice based upon experience. He urged every man to do his duty by the college; to enter into every branch of college activity possible and to do it with a will. Football especially, he said, calls out the real worth of any man and affords one the most pleasant memories of college days.

It was encouraging to hear from Coach Crook that he was well satisfied with the progress made in practice upon the field thus far. His exhortation was for faithful work every day and a goodly number on the scrub. Professor Wood cautioned new men that the first two weeks in college was a critical time and that friendships were then formed for life.

Before President Bate could announce him, Dr. Davenport had been called to the floor in the informal way that we practice here. As always, his remarks were amusing as well as serious. The status of citizenship, he

Today's Game

Today the first game of the season, that against Cazenovia Seminary, is played on Steuben Field. Every man in college owes it as a duty to the college to be on the side lines to cheer for the team.

Last year the heavy Cazenovia team held against all our attacks and the game ended without a score being made. This year things will be different. Be in front of the "Gym." promptly at 2:45, to march onto the field. Bring your megaphones—and use them.

IT WAS NOT WITH the usual full feeling of gladness that the fellows returned to College this Fall. There was a void somewhere. Something indescribably saddened each man's greeting. And yet he knew well what caused it. He had felt it ever since that day in latter August when first with but little shock of surprise he had read of the death of Professor Oren Root who for more than sixty-nine years had been a son of Hamilton.

How great a part of this College of ours this man constituted, we are fated to realize. Severe will be the pain that we will suffer from this premature deprivation and intensely shall we miss him and yet, in all a slight solace will be ours, in just knowing that to us was granted the immeasurable boon of his acquaintance. We can but pity those of the College to whom "Square" is merely a name: to attempt to describe to them "Square" the man would be futility in essence. These unfortunate ones are sensible of but little grief; we, though stricken, rejoice at being able to measure how much has gone.

The "Square"-less Hamilton that yesterday seemed to us so inconceivable is today a frigid reality. He lies now in the College cemetery where so many of his brother sons of Hamilton sleep benign in the proximity to their alma mater. Yes, "Square" has departed for good and with him everything he was blest with here on earth: intellect, character, sunniness, geniality, lovability — all, including his unequalled knowledge of all that pertained to old Hamilton. But there was one treasure that did not die with him and that one ever increasing will be his until the last son of this Hill shall join him in his peace. It may seem no treasure to some but to "Square" it was life itself. It is simply Hamilton's love.

FORTUNATELY it does not often become our sad duty to record any breaks in our little circle of friendship here on the Hill. We are all young men together, and we are so young, so vigorous, so ambitious, so full of hope and plans and joy at merely being alive, that the thought of Death rarely crosses our mind and if it does, is dismissed with a shrug and perhaps a shudder. But when the Death Angel steps among us and breaks what we choose to believe is a charmed circle, with his touch which summons our friends to the unknown, then we begin to realize what the Dark Valley is.

During the past vacation two of our mates have laid down the burden of life before they had scarcely learned how to bear it. But a short week after that joyous Commencement last, Samuel H. Saunders of the class of 1909 was suddenly stricken with appendicitis and died within a few days. Of his many endearing qualities we do not need to write. All of us knew him and all who knew him loved him. Taken thus in the early dawn of his manhood he leaves a great void in our hearts. To his father and family we can offer only that sympathy which words cannot express.

A week later, on July third, came the shocking news that Fred E. Joralemon of the class of 1908 had been drowned. He was so young and hopeful that his removal, so terrible in its suddenness, seemed needless. But who of us can say? Perhaps in the future, the plan and reason of all this heartache will be revealed. A man more loyal to Hamilton College than he, never stood on this hillside. We all loved him too. But how petty words are! All we can say is that Hamilton has lost a good son, we, a good comrade, and may God help his parents to bear the burden of the loss of their only child.

TO THE FRESHMEN, LIFE is glad to extend a hearty welcome. We always like to see the new men enter College, for it brings to our mind many happy memories. We are disappointed that the class is not larger. However, those who are here are not to blame for those who did not come. Probably you have been advised to death, but we cannot help adding our mite. Every man in this College starts even. Decide what branch of College activity you are fitted for, then get into it, and get in to win! You can if you will, it's only a question of your grit and staying power. Work hard, play hard, and don't be a quitter.

— The board at Commons has been unusually good thus far. Let us hope that the fine work will be kept up throughout the year.

Resolutions

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved friend and classmate, Fred E. Joralemon, be it hereby

Resolved, That we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Eight, being conscious of our great loss, extend our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved parents, and further be it

Resolved, That these resolutions be incorporated in the Class records, and printed in the College publications.

S. S. JUDSON, Sec'y.
C. B. MCCARTHY,
P. B. WILLIAMS,
For Nineteen Eight.

Being deeply grieved, because of the death of Samuel Hugh Saunders, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Nine desires to give some expression to that grief.

We had grown to love our classmate, and his place in our midst cannot be filled. At all times, in all places, where there were college activities, he was to be found, and now he is missed.

We shall not forget him, because we cannot and would not.

In our sorrow we realize that others are even more grieved; and to father, sister and brother our fullest sympathy goes out.

For the class, this expression of sorrow and sympathy is sent to the bereaved family, and printed in our College publications by said, for the future will depend very largely upon the college man. First, there is a chance and need in college to develop tact, and then to practice moral and mental as well as physical courage.

A College Meeting

On Saturday at noon was held the first college meeting of the year. Although the Freshmen were necessarily absent, there was a good representation of the college present. The object of the meeting was to elect cheer- and song-leaders for the football season and to discuss the football situation. Coach Crook made a few apt remarks in which he emphasized the necessity of a good second team and enthusiastic support from the side-lines.

A ballot made Watson and A. H. Holley '08 cheer leaders. During promiscuous nominations for song leaders Dr. Stryker came forward with a bit of advice. He urged the necessity of electing men with voices sufficiently strong to endure the strain of open-air singing and suggested Sarles '10 as an available man. Simmons '08 and Sarles '10 were elected.

Hamiltonian Board

The complete make-up of the 1909 Hamiltonian Board is as follows: Leavenworth, editor-in-chief; Wallace, business manager; Woollcott and Truax, literary editors; Wilcox and Rifenbark, art editors; McLean, athletic editor, and Willoughby and Baum, advertising editors. Work will soon be begun in accordance with the formulated plans.

—The number of men in the Freshman class is forty-four; the number of classical students, sixteen; the number of Latin-Scientific students, twenty-eight.

College Notes

—The new cement sidewalk which extends the length of Freshman Hill is a valuable addition to the Hill's attraction. If it realizes the advantages expected of it and proves serviceable the year round, more walks of similar construction should be substituted for the defective board walks which have evoked so many complaints in past years.

—The following men are entered in the LIFE competition: Day, Gouge, Flagler, Mitchell, Parry, Riley, Seidle, Westcott and Willard. Any other Freshmen desiring to enter should do so immediately.

—Leavenworth '10 was out of the game the latter part of the month on account of blood poisoning.

—A window in memory of Prof. J. A. Mears has been placed in the front of the chapel.

—Volovic, a former student at Colgate University, has entered college and will be in the Sophomore class.

—A very satisfactory feature in football this season has been the large number of alumni that have come back to help the team by coaching. Among these are Drummond '01, Drummond '02, LeMunyan '06, Stryker '06, Bennett '06, Sicard '06.

—The Class of 1909 intends to leave as a gift to the college a memorial window to "Square" Root. Plans for this are now being discussed and at the proper time will no doubt be executed. This will appeal to all Hamilton men as a very appropriate memorial and one of which the college will be proud.

—Extensive repairs and alterations are now being made to the interior of the Psi Upsilon House. An addition has been built which includes a larger dining room and several living rooms. During the progress of these repairs the Chapter is occupying the house situated just across the road.

—Prof. Wood returned last week from his European trip and reported an enjoyable summer. Bagg '07 made the trip with him.

—Bryant '09 is ill at the Smyth home in Clinton. Typhoid fever has developed and he will doubtless be taken to a hospital in Utica. He has the sympathy of the entire college.

—The members of the Class of 1909 are glad to welcome Roenke back to their ranks. He was compelled to leave here at the end of his Freshman year but having successfully completed Sophomore year at Hobart, is able to return as a full-fledged Junior.

—The following alumni have been on the Hill recently: Robinson '72; Drummond '01; Drummond, Naylor, Millham '02; Wicks, Knox '04; Richardson '05; Macdonald, Spedick, Heacock, Barrows, Bennett, Carroll and Drummond '06; Day, Rynd, Swetman, Schwartz and Trippe '07.

—Simmons '08 has already called out the candidates for the Glee Club. Rehearsals were started Wednesday and the old songs were tried. The first concert will be given in Utica about Thanksgiving time.

—Day '07 left the Hill Tuesday to take postgraduate work at Harvard under the Root Fellowship.

—Thursday afternoon at four-thirty, Phi Beta Kappa met in Truax Hall for the election of members and the transaction of other business.

—Prof. Sicard who has been quite ill with an attack of jaundice is about the Hill again today.

—On the first Saturday of the term, the Varsity played their first regular game with the scrub. Although the second team was reinforced by Coach Crook and Sicard and Stryker '06, they were decisively beaten, 39 to 9. Many new men playing on the scrub showed up well.

Class Elections

The Class of 1908 met Thursday afternoon and elected officers as follows: President, A. H. Holley; Vice-President, McLean; Secretary, Judson; Treasurer, Kellogg. All these officers were re-elected, having served in a like capacity during the past year.

The Class of 1909 met Wednesday and elected the following officers: President, McLean; Vice-President, Getman; Secretary, Willoughby; Treasurer, A. F. Osborn.

The officers of the Class of 1910 were also re-elected with the single exception of the Vice-Presidency, which was made vacant when Moore left college. The officers are: President, Sherwin; Vice-President, Barber; Secretary, Knox; Treasurer, Leavenworth.
